The "21 + 3" blackjack side bet is based on examining the player's two cards and the dealer's up-card. If 4 the three cards form a flush, straight, three-of-a-kind or straight flush, the player wins. In the original version, the payout 4 for each of these was 9-to-1. With this pay table, the game has a house edge of 3.2386%. Recently, new 4 pay tables have been introduced that have higher house edges and greater volatility.

The point of attack I considered is to 4 target flushes. Any strong imbalance in the suits favors the player. For example, consider a situation where there are 40 4 cards, 10 of each suit. Without going into the math, the number of ways of making a three-card flush is 4 480. Now, take those same 40 cards, and assume they are distributed 15, 10, 10, 5. Then the number of 4 three-card flushes is 705. The more unbalanced the distribution of suits, the more the edge swings towards the player.

To make 4 use of this, it is necessary to keep track of the number of cards in each suit that remain in 4 the shoe. This can be accomplished by a team of counters, each keeping track of one of the suits (or 4 by a mentally gifted solo counter). The counters then compute the difference between the most abundant and least abundant suits. 4 This difference is then turned into a true count, and if that true count is sufficiently large, the player has 4 an edge.

I created a simulation to model using this system on a six-deck shoe game dealt to 52 cards and 4 simulated one hundred million (100,000,000) shoes. This work showed that a counter can gain an edge on approximately 3.5% of 4 the hands dealt (1.75 hands per shoe). The counter should make the 21+3 wager whenever the true count is 8 4 or higher. The average edge when the wager is made will be just over 5%. If the table limit isR$25, 4 then a counter playing heads-up can earn aboutR$2.20 per shoe. The new pay tables were not evaluated.

As an experiment, I 4 shuffled one hundred thousand (100,000) shoes and computed the edge at the point when there were 100 cards remaining in 4 the shoe. The result of this simulation was an average house edge of 3.247%, which is close to the theoretical 4 value of 3.239%. More interesting was that the standard deviation of the house edge was 3.57%. It follows that a 4 player edge is 0.910 standard deviations above the mean. Therefore, the player will have an edge on about 18.14% of 4 the shoes at that point. The trick is knowing which ones. My simulation gave a maximum player edge of 23.71% 4 and a maximum house edge of 13.55%.

There are two reasons that

APs will not target 21+3 with this system. The 4 first is its complexity, the second is the low return. However, there is another approach that may be significantly stronger. Consider 4 a shuffle tracking approach where a slug of cards is identified that is either deficient in one suit or abundant 4 in one suit. In this case, by tracking that slug through a weak shuffle, the AP will have a good 4 opportunity. My knowledge of shuffle tracking is minimal. I cannot say if this is an approach that has been used 4 in practice. Finally, I have not considered if the new pay tables have a similar vulnerability to the 9-to-1 pay 4 table.
