Preparação

Os jogadores sentam-se em torno da mesa de jogo e compram fichas.

Cada jogador recebe uma certa quantidade de fichas, geralmente 1.000 ou 2.000.

O deck é embaralhado e distribuído entre os jogadores.

Um jogo sem limite é como parece - não há limite para o que você pode apostar, além do dinheiro na pilha de fichas na mesa de cartas do poker. O único limite é a capacidade de aumentar as suas fichas. Isso significa que o valor que tem na mesa, infelizmente não pode apostar mais do que a sua quantidade de fichas. Aqui está um exemplo: O pote atual é R$ 500 e a aposta atual, R$ 50. Você tem R$250 em fichas, então você não poderá apostar mais do que R$250.

Isso significa que os outros jogadores devem ligar R$ 250 ou aumentar, caso contrário, eles devem jogar suas cartas fora da rodada. Embora não haja limite máximo de aposta, há um mínimo para o valor que você deve apostar ou levantar. Na maioria dos torneios de poker, esse valor é do tamanho da big blind, mas poderia ser mais. Se você já tiver um aumento, você pode aumentar pelo tamanho mínimo.

You cannot win any money at all since it is a play-money site. They do offer in-app purchases, so some people spend money to buy chips. I did know a guy who was a pretty good poker player and he won billions of chips and then sold them to other players at a price cheaper than Zynga sold them.

Israeli Air Strike Kills 35 Displaced Palestinians in Rafah Camp

An Israeli air strike on a camp for displaced Palestinians in Rafah, in the Gaza Strip, left a death toll of 35 on Sunday night. The lawyer Zuhair, 36, witnessed the scene of terror as an explosion shook the area while he watched the news with friends. The lack of warning and the slow arrival of aid increased the number of victims. The crowd initially tried to rescue the wounded with their bare hands, carrying them on stretchers or carrying them in donkeys or cramming them into individual cars to look for aid.

Sharif Warsh Agha, a 32-year-old driver, described the scene as a "vision of hell" with bodies burned and mangled by the initial explosion and the subsequent fires. Agha transported nine people, including children and a woman with a chest wound, in his small car, which normally carries two people.

The Israeli strike took place in a camp established by Kuwait at the beginning of this year to accommodate displaced people. Although the camp was outside the "humanitarian zone" along the coast announced by Israel in May, it was not within the specific areas of Rafah subject to evacuation orders.

Palestinians walk through the smoke of a fire at the site of an Israeli strike in a zone designated for displaced people in Rafah.

A witness said the strike appeared to be caused by a US-made GBU-39 missile, which carries a 17 kg explosive charge. The New York Times found in previous investigations that coincided with the Israeli army's claims about the amount of explosives used. GBU missiles weigh 110 kg in total, including metal casings that can turn into shrapnel. They can penetrate 3 meters of concrete.

The Israeli army said the target was a Hamas commander of high rank and suggested that the fire could have been caused by a secondary explosion. It did not provide more evidence of the suspected presence of Hamas weapons in the area.

Refugee camps are full of highly flammable objects that could explode and cause fires, such as gas stoves.

Children search for food among the rubble after an Israeli strike in a zone designated for displaced people in Rafah.

The victims included many people originally from Beit Lahia, as many communities remained united while fleeing through Gaza. Among them was the friend of Zuhair, Ahmed Zayed, who left behind a young child, born after a 10-year struggle with infertility.

Zuhair wants his friend to be remembered and proud. "I love mentioning his name to make sure the world knows that our dead were not just numbers. They had lives and dreams."
