The daughters of Russian President Vladimir Putin rarely make public appearances, but this week they participated in panels at the International Economic Forum in Saint Petersburg.

Maria Vorontsova and Katerina Tikhonova, who are credited to be in the 30-year-old age group until the end of the 20th century, are his daughters since their wedding with his ex-wife Lyudmila.

Putin said that his daughters work in science and education, but he never confirmed their names.

Both already participated in the annual forum in Saint Petersburg in the past, but only the younger daughter, Tikhonova, was the speaker.

Tikhonova, who is a technology executive and executive of the technological area of the country, made an appearance in a panel on Thursday at a forum on "technical sovereignty" at the military industrial complex. She was listed as general director for intellectual development (NIDF) of the speakers at this National Intellectual Development Foundation Forum.

The panel was moderated by the television presenter and prominent propagandist Vladimir Soloviev.

Tikhonova was sanctioned by the USA and the United Kingdom in April 2024, after the invasion of Ukraine by Russia for her work in support of the Russian Ministry. In her observations at the forum, she spoke about innovation that eliminated the import of technologies related to civil or military spheres.

The older daughter, Maria Vorontsova (who was also sanctioned), spoke personally in a panel on Friday about innovations in biotechnology and bioproduction. Vorontsova is an endocrinologist who was listed as a member of the Russian Association for the Promotion of Sciences.

Analysts believe that part of Putin's wealth may be hidden in the bank accounts of family members.

The anticorruption foundation of the late Russian opposition leader Alexey Navalny said in January of this year that, according to an investigation, Vorontsova made more than R$10 million between 2022 and 2024 as an employee of a medical company.

Putin is very reserved about his daughters and family life, with some analysts believing that he wants to appear powerful without showing vulnerabilities.

The Russian president has previously said that his daughters are not involved in politics and live ordinary lives. Tikhonova supposedly once tried to follow a career in rock and roll acrobatics.

Vorontsova is said to have been married to a Dutch businessman and the couple is said to have lived in a house worth R$ 3.3 million in the Netherlands. A multimillion-dollar home, eight bedrooms in the neighborhood

Biarritz, France, was bought by her ex-husband Kirill Shamalov!

The Kremlin has always denied rumors that Putin has more children outside his former marriage, with all of them living in Western countries.
